In general, humans are created to live with nature. We are naturally embraced, embraced and comfortable nature. The design of the structure to be a part of nature is difficult because it does not just pick up the handle. But must be designed to maximize the use

This community mall is on the route of the meridian crossing and linking With the area that is full of nature, it is suitable for this design. Community mall that responds to usage with a distinct identity is a natural area for relaxation within the community mall and is equipped with many internal shopping centers

In the area of the center of this community shopping center is a courtyard for relaxation and activities to open space to open air and light. As well as easy access to various areas

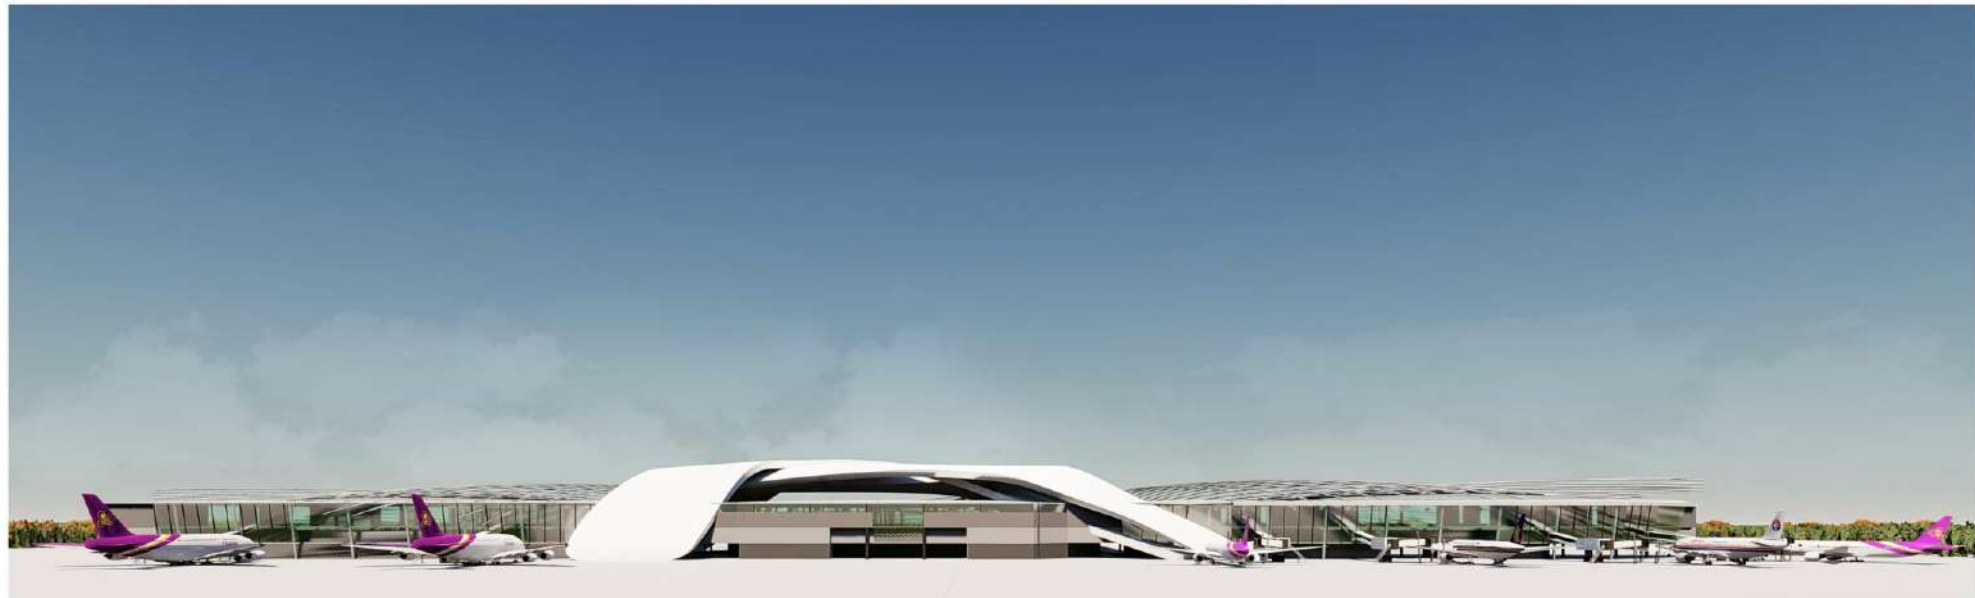

If returning to the history of Trang city Trang is a Muang Thong port of Thailand. Is a source of transportation for goods both in the country and outside the country, mostly using junk boats to transport. In addition to transportation, there is also a change of culture between different civilizations. But at present, boat transportation is a small option to use the service.

Nowadays, technology has changed to use aircraft instead. By aircraft, it has advantages in both fast transportation. Take away the economic civilizations Everything comes quickly. One important factor that everyone overlooked is the wind. The wind is the part that helps blow everything. Whether it was a junk in the past Or the current plane And the wind also affects architecture in many ways, therefore applying this concept to the design of the building
