about me

I graduated with the degree of Interior Design from the Philippine School of Interior Design - Ahlen Institute. I found interior design which became my outlet of self-expression that also challenged my capabilities.

With my passion for learning new things, I have gained valuable experiences which are reflected in my professional performance and I continue to take on different things to expand my knowledge.

My experience involves being in the field of real estate, events management and interior design. Through practice, I gained a deeper understanding of materials, how it influences the movement and behavior of people within a space.
